SPRINGFIELD, Ore.— Springfield Education Foundation's Board recently elected some new officers:

- Longtime board member Travis Fryback, owner of Team Casino, is this year's Board Chair, making former representative Terry Beyer the Past Chair;
- Wells Fargo VP Micah Adams is Development Chair;
- Washburne Café co-owner and attorney Jeff Heriot is Treasurer; and
- Thorp, Purdy, Jewett, Urness & Wilkinson attorney Lance LeFever is Secretary.

Jeff Heriot is one of four new members on this year's board. As Treasurer, he also chairs the Finance and Government committee. In addition to co-owning the Washburne, Heriot, a CPA, is Director of Administration and Accounting Manager at Harrang Long Gary Rudnick PC Attorneys at Law. He is also the parent of two Springfield High School alumni.

Kelli Warner, a long-time district and foundation supporter, is a public relations professional with the Turell Group and mother of two Springfield students. Kelli serves on the Marketing Committee and assists with social media and events.

Brenda Hansen, also a long-time supporter, is an exclusive agent at Horace Mann Insurance. Brenda will serve on the Innovative Educator Grant Committee and the Night of 11,000 Stars Decorations Committee. She is the Chair of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce Education Committee. She's also the mother of a Springfield student.

Mary Farrington is a grant writer for the Erb Memorial Union at the UO. Mary serves on the Innovative Educator Grant Committee and the newly formed Chifin Community Council.

The four join Ed Baker, Sandra Boyst, Seve Ghose, Kari Isham, Shelly Krehbiel, Judy Leahy, Jamie Louis-Smith, Greg Lusby, Lester Perry, Sue Rieke-Smith, Bruce Smolnisky and Bill Spiry on the board.
